Textiles

"You can't use up creativity. The more you use, the more you have." Oscar Wilde

This course is good for students who are keen to design and make creative and unique pieces of textile work. Textiles is a very exciting subject that encourages students to consider technological advances in Design and Technology as well as building up traditional skills, knowledge and understanding.

What topics will you be studying?
This course enables students to understand and apply iterative design processes through which they explore, create and evaluate a range of outcomes.

- The impact of new and emerging technologies
- Developments in modern and smart materials
- Understanding issues that influence design and marketing.
- Investigate methods used in textile production.
- Testing, developing and evaluating ideas.
- Being aware of practices from the creative and manufacturing industries.
- The use of computers in designing and making.

These topics are covered by theory and practical sessions.

What do students studying this qualification go on to do?

- BTEC qualification in Fashion & Clothing
- Textiles Design Art Foundation course
- A Level in Textiles related subject